1. When you see a woman walking by herself, leave her alone.
2. Do not put drugs in a woman's drink.
3. If you pull over to help a woman whose car has broken down or to give her a ride home, keep your distance and offer to call for help. Do not rape her.
4. If you are in an elevator and a woman gets in remember 1) to give her some space, 2) enclosed areas are never the place to put on the moves and 3) don't rape her.
5. If you are on a date with a woman and she gets too drunk to stand, walk, talk, or keep her eyes open, do not rape her. Call her friends or take her home!
6. Use the buddy system! If you are not able to stop yourself from sexually harassing or assaulting people, ask a friend to stay with you while you are in public.
7. Remember: It's not sex with someone who is asleep or unconscious — it's RAPE!
8. Carry a whistle! If you are worried you might rape someone "by accident" blow the whistle to call for help.
9. If you are determined to have sex with the woman you are on a date with regardless of how she feels about it, tell her directly that there is every chance you will rape her. If you do not communicate your intentions, she may take it as a sign that you do not plan to rape her and inadvertently feel safe.
10. Don't rape.
WOMEN NEED A VOICE ON CAMPUS!

National Women’s Liberation (NWL) is a feminist group for women who want to fight back against male supremacy and win more freedom for women. We believe that change comes primarily from the action of everyday people—not just the politicians, courts, lobbyists, or the media.

NWL originates from a collaboration between organizers from Redstockings of the Women’s Liberation Movement and Gainesville (FL) Women’s Liberation beginning in 1968, and which continues today.

WHAT WE WANT

- Women’s lives, ideas, desires and dreams to be no less important than men’s.
- Time for work, family, and ourselves, without having to choose between them.
- To be loved and respected for who we are as people. We are fed up with women’s worth coming down to how we look.
- Men to do their fair share of the housework, raising children, and the work of maintaining and cultivating relationships — at least half of it.
- Full control over the decision to have or not to have children. No restrictions on abortion or birth control.

WHAT WE BELIEVE

Women do what we have to do to get by in a world that is still sexist in little everyday ways and in very big ways. We are called bitchy when we speak up, passive and weak when we don’t. We are not brainwashed or conditioned: All women fight as individuals, but we don’t always fight back on the same things, at the same time, or in the same ways. We need to unite and fight together strategically.
